

Selected Reports in Ethnomusicology, Vol. 6 (1985)
Asian Music in North America

Nazir A. Jairazbhoy and Sue Carole DeVale, editors
Roger Wright, managing editor
Kathleen Wrobel, editorial assistant
David Ocker, music engraving
Ethnomusicology Publications Committee:
James Porter (Chair)
Sue Carole DeVale
Nazir A. Jairazbhoy
A. Jihad Racy (ex-officio, Chairman, Council on Ethnomusicology)

CONTENTS

Forward
Sue Carole DeVale	vii
Introduction
Nazir A. Jairazbhoy	1
The Asian Musician in North America
Music in a New World: Asian Musicians Speak
Karl Signell	11
South Asian Music in North America
Aspects of Asian Indian Musical Life in Chicago
Alison Arnold	25
Today and the Good Old Days: South Asian Music and Dance Performances in Chicago
Joan L. Erdman	39
Garba and the Gujaratis of Southern California
Gordon Thompson and Medha Yodh	59
Southeast Asian Music In North America
Harmonizing the Generations in Hmong Musical Performance
Amy Catlin	83
The Survival of Lao Traditional Music in America
Terry E. Miller	99
Thoughts about "Slippery Slendro"
Lou Harrison	111

East Asian Music in North America

Japanese-American Music and Dance in Los Angeles, 1930-1942 Jo Anne Combs	121
The Re-integration of Japanese Bon Dance in Hawaii After World War II Christine R. Yano	151
Horaku: A Buddhist Tradition of Performing Arts and the Development of Taiko Drumming in the United States Susan Asai	163
The Many Roles of Peking Opera in San Francisco in the 1980s Isabel K. F. Wong	173
Korean Musical Culture in Los Angeles Ronald Riddle	189
Contributors to this Volume	197